Dear Dr. Kumar,

I was pleased, finally, to be able to make time during this past winter break, to sit down and read your book of historical prose poetry, Great People and Greatest Moments. I feel honored that you sent it to me and I do apologize for the fact that my teaching kept me so busy last semester that I could not make time to sit down and give your poems a fair reading until recently.

It is a very interesting format and form that you have chosen for this work, and your perceptions and reflections on many of the important historical figures of our world captured my interest. I note with particular pleasure that the book both begins and ends with an affirmation of peace, love and good works. May the "parliaments of peace flourish" indeed; may healing be at the end.

Peace and energy to you,

THE WOODROW WILSON CENTER

LEE H. HAMILTON
DIRECTOR

May 26-28, 2000

Dear Friends:

On behalf of America's living memorial to our 28th President, Woodrow Wilson, I am pleased to welcome you to this conference inaugurating International Tamil University.

President Wilson envisioned a world where international cooperation and peace would thrive. In today's age of globalization -- with boundaries between nations eroding and goods, information and people constantly on the move around the world -- these goals are all the more important. By fostering cross-cultural exchanges and understanding, International Tamil University can advance President Wilson's cause and carry forward the great American multicultural tradition.

I wish you all an enjoyable and successful conference, and the best of luck with this exciting new venture.

With best regards,

Sincerely yours,

UNIVERSITY HONORS PROGRAM

Dr. S. Kumar
Center for Communication and Arts

Washington, D.C.

Dear Dr. Kumar,

Many thanks for allowing me the opportunity to read your book Arts India: Shiva in Sculptures. I enjoyed it and learned a great deal from it.

There are many strengths in your presentation: The Introduction is very clear, and the organization of the following chapters, with reference to the illustrations, makes the description and discussion easy to follow. There are many explanations of the terminology which may be unfamiliar to a Western reader. The use of italics for Indian words helps the reader know that these may be unfamiliar terms.

There are a few suggestions I have to offer which will make your next publication even better. Including a map of India, with the locations of the items in the illustrations indicated would be very helpful, especially to those who plan to travel to India. Although you have explained most of your terminology, there remain some which are unfamiliar to the average Western reader. This is a problem for the reader, and might be best solved by the inclusion of a glossary of terms at the end, or perhaps at the bottom of the page. Another suggestion I have is to include drawings or diagrams of the attributes of the gods and goddesses, so that the reader can be more familiar with them.

Again, thanks for the opportunity to read your very interesting book.

Sincerely,

Caroline E. Dexter

TO WHOMSOEVER IT MAY CONCERN

This is to certify that Dr. S. SELVIN KUMAR, M.A., Ph.D. is personally known to me since 1971 when he was doing his undergraduate course. Subsequently he did his Post-Graduate Degree in the University College, Trivandrum. He was appointed as Lecturer in Medieval History, School of Historical Studies, Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai in 1976.

Dr. Selvin Kumar has been very active and enterprising by nature. He was temperamentally, very much suited to the job which he adorned. Highly humanistic in his attitude, Dr. Selvin Kumar possesses the knack of winning over people by his sincere approach and pleasing manners.

Dr. Selvin Kumar is an accomplished scholar. When he served as a faculty member of the School of Historical Studies, he used to take an abiding interest in all the academic activities such as seminars, conferences etc. He has published many books and research articles which were commended by academicians. He was also guiding research scholars doing Ph.D. and M.Phil programmes. His concern and commitment to the cause of social issues and problems is evident from the fact that he founded a centre to treat addicts to alcohol and drugs. This venture, a laudable one in deed, brought him accolades from people of different walks of life.

During his stay in the Department, recognising his academic worth and potentials, Dr. Selvin Kumar was invited by many foreign agencies to visit their countries and partake in their activities. He visited Norway, Switzerland, West Germany, Denmark, Belgium, United Kingdom and U.S.A. He also served as a member of many learned bodies both national as well as international.

Endowed with pleasing manners, Dr. Selvin Kumar has the capacity to articulate his views effectively. Because of his qualities of head and heart, he was respected by his students and colleagues. He will be an asset to any institution which aims at perfection. Dr. Selvin Kumar is capable of discharging any work assigned to him with utmost devotion and care. I wish him all the best in his endeavours.

Dear Dr. Selvin Kumar:

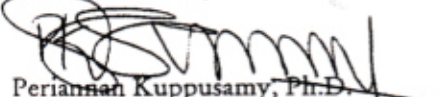

Thank you very much for sending me a copy of the first volume of 'Arts India', which describes the meaning and background details of the sculptures of Shiva. I was delighted to read and know the various forms of Shiva and the background information. Though I myself have visited the Temple several times, I wonder how much I knew about these sculptures before I read your book. My congratulations to you and the Center for Communication & Arts for bringing out such an useful and technically excellent volume.

As you might know, apart from my regular profession as a Faculty in the Division of Cardiology of Johns Hopkins University, School of Medicine, Baltimore, I have been involved in the promotion of the culture and language of Tamils among those who have migrated to this country years ago and their children who were born here. To this effect, I have developed a variety of computer software for personal computers that will teach the Tamil language, from basics to grammar, and professional quality fonts for desktop publishing in Tamil. Thousands of copies of these programs are being used all over the world. For this pioneering effort, I was honored with a 'Tamil Service Award' by the New York Tamil Sangam in 1993. Also, I was recently invited to present my computer softwares at the Institute of Education, National University, Singapore and at the International Tamil Teacher's Conference held at Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Your efforts to research and compile the subtle meanings with every technical detail of the ancient Temple art forms are laudable. I am sure the Arts India series will be useful to many of our kids as well as to others who would like to know the richness of our tradition, culture, and arts.

Once again I congratulate you for the excellent work and wish to see more volumes of Arts India in the future. I will be glad to work with you, if you need any assistance for this project.

With best wishes,

Honorable Dr. Kumar,

Congratulations! The occasion of the inauguration of the Human Rights Indo-US office in Laurel and launching it as a Community Enrichment Center and offering children's programs and Healthy Living classes and lectures on Human Rights and other essential elements of great living is not only one of new beginnings but of celebrations of your valuable work accomplished raising the quality of life of others thus ensuring their highest potential which, to me, is the ultimate human right.

I take this opportunity to acknowledge Dr. Bruce Ferguson, for his mentorship and your wonderful daughters Aarath Jen and Aamy Sejen for their dedication to work with you in this great cause. Educators such as you set an example for others and lead the way to higher knowledge, higher hopes and higher achievements.

I salute your noble cause and wish you and your dedicated team outstanding success!

Dear DR Selvinkumar,

I have got all pat and praise for the excellent arrangement and management of the function on 19.2.2014 at Koyambedu, Chennai, for which you are mainly responsible. I really enjoyed your speech coupled with your various efforts employed in organising the promotion and propagation of Tamil. Hats off to your work done so far and the future plan action in this connection. I still remember your impressive personality not only in appearance but also in action.

Besides, the very purpose of venturing to write a letter is to appreciate about your booklet on " A Future of Promise " which was given to me during the function. I could go through it after reaching home.

Your impressions and observations about of our Hon'ble Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu is only an illustration but not an exaggeration. As a person closely associated with our Hon'ble AMMA for years, I can easily vouch that you are absolutely right in writing about our Hon'ble AMMA. The varied aspects of her has been well narrated briefly and carefully in an impressive way for which you are known. As such, you deserve one more congratulation. I hasten to pray the Almighty to shower on you all His grace for a healthy, prosperous and progressive life.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Selvin,

I enjoyed meeting you in Washington last month at our Rajasthan Studies Group event. We all appreciated your interest.

Alas, I regret to inform you that the quarterly Arts India did not survive its trip to my mailbox; I received your letter and the large outer envelope, but there was a long gash in the outer envelope, and no sign of Arts India! My mailman has the habit of bending and twisting mail to fit it into my mailbox, and I suspect that it fell out and by the time he noticed this, would not have known whose piece of mail this was. I will have to defer any comments to some future and, I hope, happier, occasion!

TO WHOEVER IT MAY CONCERN

I have known Dr. Selvin Kumar for the past three years. He has informed me about his writings and his concerns about human rights. He has expressed his strong desire to serve the human kind and I am sure that all his endeavors will ultimately benefit the human kind. I find Dr. Selvin Kumar to be a religious and hard working person. He is committed to the welfare of his family and friends. I recommend him to be admitted to the intern program on human rights.

Dear Dr. Kumar,

On behalf of the Asia Regional Studies Course, I would like to thank you for sending the video tapes and newspapers for our briefing. We used your tapes during our introduction to set the tone of the briefing. The newspapers were set at a display table along with other Sri Lanka information for students to look at during their breaks. The briefing went well and we truly appreciated your contribution.

I enclosed a postal money order to cover the cost of sending the material to us. If this does not cover the expense, please let us know.

We are also including a plaque as a token of appreciation for your support and hospitality from you and your family during our visit.

Thank you again for sharing your information and assisting us in our briefing requirement so that others may learn about your country.

All the Best Wishes from the Asia Regional Studies Course Staff.

Welcome to the Association of American Educators (AAE): We are happy to have you as a member.

As the fastest growing membership organization of its kind, AAE advances the profession by offering a modern approach to teacher representation and educational advocacy. As a member, you are joining thousands of forward-thinking professionals who are committed to professionalism, collaboration and excellence.

AAE membership includes a host of benefits focused on supporting you as a professional. A complete list of benefits is provided in the enclosed membership benefits guide. Our website gives you constant access to information and resources at aaeteachers.org. Professional and Student Members enjoy 12 months of protection through a personal $2,000,000 professional liability insurance policy (see enclosed insurance certificate). You may access a copy of the policy at www.aeteachers.org/insurance.

AAE is committed to expanding our membership so we hope you will consider being an active part of this growth. Please take a minute to refer your colleagues by passing along the enclosed membership brochure or ask them to visit aaeteachers.org for more information

Once again, thank you for joining AAE. If we can be of any assistance to help you in utilizing your membership benefits, or if you have feedback about how AAE can be of even more value for you as a member, please contact us at 800.704.7799 or at memberservices@aaeteachers.org.

Sincerely,

THE FEDERALIST SOCIETY FOR LAW AND PUBLIC POLICY STUDIES

November 4, 2014

Dear Dr. Kumar:

Thank you for renewing your membership in the Federalist Society. Attached to this letter is your membership card, valid through 10/20/2015 and our record of your membership has been updated appropriately. Your Member ID is 116748. Please have this number available whenever you contact Membership Services. You will also need this number in order to sign up at the Federalist Society's Pro Bono Center web site, located at www.probonocenter.org.

Your membership in the Federalist Society includes a one-year's print subscription to the Harvard Journal of Law and Public Policy and The Federalist Paper, with online access to ABA Watch and Engage: The Journal of the Federalist Society's Practice Groups. As a member of the national organization, you are also entitled to membership in our local chapters, as well as in your selected practice groups which offer practical programs and publications detailing current legal and policy developments. Your membership also includes regular email updates and invitations to local and national Federalist Society events. We hope you take advantage of our constantly updated website: www.fed-soc.org. It features podcasts of expert commentary on U.S. Supreme Court cases, debates on current legal topics from all sides of the legal spectrum, and audio and video of our current programs. In addition, most of our publications and event registration are now available electronically.

As you know, the Federalist Society was founded on the principles that the state exists to preserve freedom, that the separation of governmental powers is central to our Constitution, and that it is emphatically the province and duty of the judiciary to say what the law is, not what it should be. Our membership is composed of law students, faculty, lawyers, public policy experts, and others dedicated to preserving these principles. Since our founding in 1982, we have become an influential voice for conservative and libertarian legal thinking both on America's law school campuses and in the legal community at large. We have grown to over 300 chapters nationwide and are represented in all 50 states.

If you have any questions concerning your membership benefits, please feel free to contact me at the National Office. Thank you for continuing to support the Federalist Society!

Sincerely,

Peter Bisbee
Membership Director
